Burn Camp

On August 9, 2013, several members of the PFFL (Professional Firefighter of Lehi) had the opportunity to attend the annual University of Utah Burn Camp held at camp "Nah Nah Mah" located in Millcreek Canyon. The camp is provided for burn victims that have been treated by the burn center at the University of Utah. The four day camp introduces children 6-12 years of age to the burn survivor world. Kids are able to meet, talk, play, and live with other children their age that are burn victims as well. Kids learn canoeing, rock wall climbing, archery, and many other activities that promote self-esteem. This year there were kids from Utah, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Arizona, Wyoming and Nevada in attendance. The camp is completely funded by the PFFU (Professional Firefighter of Utah) at a cost of approximately twelve thousand dollars. The PFFU was also able to help out with some of the transportation costs to get the kids to the camp. Donations provided were gas money and air fare and Unified Fire Authority provided transportation for one of the kids with a piece of their own apparatus. The locals of the PFFU provide all of the meals. The Professional Firefighters of Lehi were able to provide dinner on first night at camp. You could tell they were all really excited to be there. One of the directors for the camp, Ron Fife, otherwise known as "Ratch" said, "It's so awesome to see these kids come together. They don't have to worry about anyone looking at them differently. They can all relate to each other in what they are going through or what they have had to go through".

Our Local 4862, along with generous contributions from Macey's and Kohlers provided pizza, watermelon, soda, and ice cream bars for all the kids and staff members. A special thanks to Ricky Evans and Kevin Beck for organizing the event and making all of the food arrangements.

Murdock Canal Trail

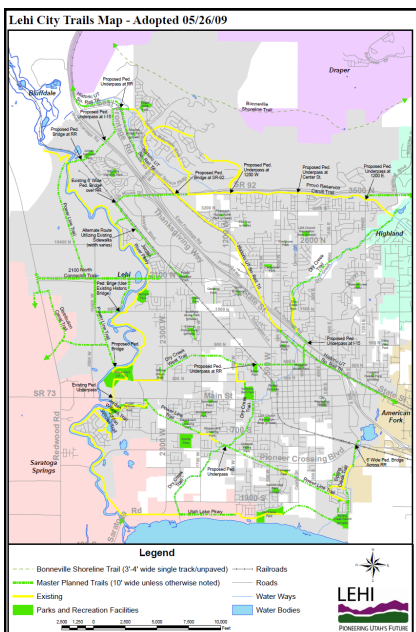

Trail systems are becoming more and more popular, with this comes increased usage and increased risk of accidents occurring. In this article we are going to focus on the Murdock Canal Trail which opened May 18, 2013. This trail will be available for year-round walking, jogging, equestrian use, cycling and skateboarding.

The Murdock Canal Trail extends from SR-92 in Lehi to 800 North in Orem. It passes through seven Utah County cities, including American Fork, Cedar Hills, Highland, Lehi, Lindon, Orem and Pleasant Grove. Future expansions will eventually connect the trail to the Jordan River Parkway.

The trail is approximately 12 feet wide and can accommodate the ambulances and brush trucks; use cautions as there are 5 tunnels throughout the trail section in Lehi. DO NOT DRIVE THROUGH A TUNNEL!! The tunnels only have 9' 5" of clearance and some approach at an angle decreasing the clearance. The tunnels are located at 3200 N, 1200 East, Center Street, 1200 West, and near Triumph BLVD.

If it is determined that access will need to be made onto the trail there are gates that need to be unlocked. A key to the gates will be found on Engine 81 and Tower 82's key rings. The lock is located near the bottom of the gates and connects to a pin. Simply unlock, then remove the lock, pull the pin out and swing the gate open. It can then be pinned back in place to hold the gate open. Gate openings are approximately 12' wide.

Here is a list of the access points found in Lehi:

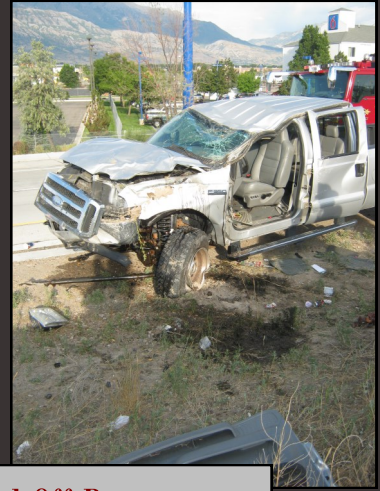

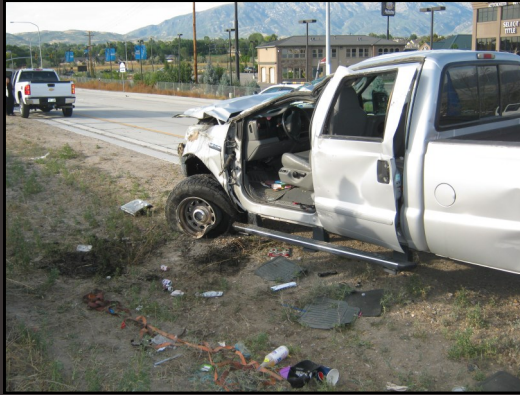

- 3200 North at approximately 1300 East (No pavement, gates on the north and south side) – access can be made into Dry Creek
- 1200 East near Timpanogos Highway (gates on the east and west side)
- Clubview Lane and 460 East (off of 3200 north, no gate)
- Center Street near Timpanogos Highway (gates on the east and west side)
- 1200 West near Timpanogos Highway (no gate)
- Bullriver road (no gate)
- Bullriver park (1300 West and Bullriver Road, no gate) - this is the trailhead
